aLLIGENCE. AL. -Yesterday was a real STAR

... way of weddings-two going off in church, after the capital fashion of our eat grandmothers and great grandfathers. Thus the Fourth street Presbyterian church was srowded in the morning, by ladies and gentlemen in gala dress, to witness the last of single blessedness of W. Blair Lord, of Baltimore and Louisa L. Willis, of Washington A similar scene took place at Trinity church, bonds of matrimony, Henry G. Hatten, of Prince George county, Md., and Miss Sarah C. Wilson, of this city. The ceremonies were most impressive in both churches, each couple baving been made one in the most impress ve and solemn way.

We will say nothing about the modest and beau iful appearance of the brides, their calls upon "Ites" to help along the proposiblusles, and especially their utterance of tion. As Washington is to be benefited by this those awful little words, "I will." when asked road, as well as Georgetown, we cheerfully that perplexing question, to "love, honor, and obey" their new lords and-no, we will not say masters. One of them has, however, obtained a Lord. The scenes were highly inres'ing to the respective gay and respectable companies present at each church. As to the grooms, it may be said from Hudibras:

"As spiders never seek the fly, But leaves him of himself to apply, So men are by themselves employed To quit the freedom they enjoyed, And run their necks into a noose, They'd break 'em after to get loose."

We will not say so, however, not desiring to e citical, preferring to wish all happiness to all parties, and such a "noose" to their necks as they may never want to "break."

WATER TRAPS .- It strikes us as singular that the Corporation authorities of Washing ton do not cause "water traps" to be affixed to overy jet, at least into each new city sewer, as it is constructed. The "water trap" is simply such a construction of the wall of the well into which the drainage of the streets fall in reaching the sewer, as that no effluvia can possibly come back through the grating. It will be remembered that before the trap was applied at the jet or grated well at the corner of Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue, the stench arising from it was, at times, unbearable. Now, no such nuisance is perceptible. The cost of this addition to the ordinary jet, or grate-covered well, cannot be ten dollars; yet it involves perfect insurance against injury to the public health from noxious effluvia otherwise arising from the sewer's filth. There is no patent upon the improvement, and it may, therefore, be used by the authorities of any city. We have had the healthiest city in the country during the past season, though there is no telling how long we may continue to be so blest. It is the part of wisdom, surely, to provide against a different state of things; more especially when, as in this in-

CIRCUIT COURT .- Moore vs. Hoffman; appeal from Orphans' Court. This case was fully hen an appeal taken from by the appellant, Richard H. Moore, from the decision of Judge Purcell. The facts alleged by the appellant were that Thomas Moore, deceased, was his father, and in proof thereof produced his indentures of apprenticeship, in which he was described as the son of said Thos. Moore, and many witnesses to testify to the fact of Thos. Moore's frequently speaking of and acknowledging him as his son. The appellee, Mary Hoffman, the sister of Thomas Moore, denied that said Richard H. Moore was the son of said Thos. Moore, or that he ever had a child, and therefore claimed as the next of kin to be entitled to the administration on the estate of said Thos. Moore, worth some $3,000 or $4,000, and produced proof that the wife of said T. Moore never was delivered of a child, and that said Richard H. Moore was the son of another woman, delivered at the house of said Thos. Moore, abandoned and by said Thomas Moore adopted. The case was fully argued by Messrs. Carrington and Davidge for the appellant, and Bradley and C. S. Wallach for the appellee, and occupied the entire day. The Court affirmed the decision of the Orphans' Court, thereby sustaining the argument of Messrs. Bradley and Wallach, and the right of Mrs. Hofiman to the estate as the next of kin of said Thomas Moore. Considerable interest was manifested, and much attention given to the arguments of the counsel on both A JUST COMPLAINT .- Our correspondent below makes a just complaint, as all pedestrians on the streets, of both sexes, will freely admit. The determination of "W. H." to prosecute such offenders, is a worthy example to the public:

Messrs Editors: On Monday afternoon. while walking along the pavement on Penna. avenue, at the foot of Seventh street, I narowly escaped being knocked down by a horse rid en down the latter street at a rapid pace, and dashing across the footpath where numbe s of persons besides myself were passing. bum things are of very trequent occurrence, equestrians evidently deeming it the duty of ladies and others to save themselves by flight instead of slackening the pace of their horses. In case of injury such offenders are liable to severe punishment, the Courts having repeatedly decided that in all intersections and or ssings the foot passenger is entitled to prece lence, and that it is the duty of a driver or rider to pull up or slacken his pace, as the safety of the pedestrian may require. If I can identify the offender, it is my determination to prosecute, and if others will do the same, the evil will soon be remedied. W. H.

COLUMBIA COLLEGE. -At an annual meeting of the Maryland Baptist Association, held on Monday, in Baltimore, among other interesting matters submitted to the convention, Rev. George Sampson made a report on Columbia College, in this city, showing the reliable resources of the institution to be about $66,000. yielding an income of $4,000 per annum, and as efficient a board of trustees as any college in the land. The report also showed that the college needed three things, viz : A president, additional students, and an endowment of $100,000. The prospects of obtaining a president of pre-eminent qualifications were very promising. It further appeared from this decument that the institution greatly needs the fervent and earnest prayers of the church.

and affection, and trust that his resignation may not result in his removal from the limits of our association

"Resolved, That Columbia College, blessed of God so greatly in the past year, as a means of supplying useful ministers to our churches, and crowned with such special marks of His favoring providence for the last few years, should have a large place than ever in our confidence, our efficient patronage, and our

TESTING THE QUESTION.-We understand that the case of Charles Werner was brought before Justice Morsell with the view to test the question, as to the right of tavern-keepers to sell by the small, and the magistrate having decided that they have no such right under the law, Mr. Werner appealed to the Circuit Court for their decision of the question. It is an amicable suit raised simply to test the question, Mr. W. acknowledging the selling of houor by the small, but claimed it as a right under the law and according to the terms of his license It will be tried at the present term, as quickly as possible, so as to settle the question at once, and is only awaiting the return of Mr. Bradley, the Corporation Attorney, to be taken up. Mr. Carlisle appears for

Werner. ELECTION INTEREST.—The telegraph offices were crowded last night and to-day with politicians anxious for news of the recent elections in New York and other States. The excitement runs high, but very little betting s been done, owing to the numerous parties In the field. There is no plain sailing now in political waters-all being, as it were, oceans to fury lashed. ORANGE AND ALEXANDRIA RAILROAD.-The attention of travelers is directed to the adverroad, as they went into effect yesterday.

BALLS To-Morrow Evening .- The Island Social Club are to have a grand gala time of it, to-morrow night, at Island Hall, for which they have made extensive arrangements including a superior cotillon band, songs, and glees by the Amphion Quartette Band, and everything needed to make the occasion one of high social enjoyment. The Genevieve Club, are to make Anacostia Hall at the Navy Yard, merry to morrow evening also, with a delightful cotillon party. Thus the Island folks and those of the Navy Yard, are both in the field for a night of pleasure, and we have only to say to our readers in the heart of the City, that the above balls where the Rev. Mr. Clark united in the sweet afford excellent opportunities for passing an agreeable evening with the beautiful ladies. and friendly gentlemen of those localities.

> THE METROPOLITAN RAILROAD .- Our Georgetown correspondent has some remarks in relation to a subscription by this city to the stock of the Metropolitan Railroad Company, and will do our best to induce the people to put their shoulders to the wheel and not call on Hercules. The question of submitting the question to the vote of the people is to be considered by the Common Council next Monday evening, and is expected to be determined favorably to the improvement.

> THE JULIEN OPERA To-NIGHT .- Odd Fellows' Hall will be lively this evening with the inimitable burlesques of the Julien Opera Troupe. The programme is a very rich one, indicating that the Troupe will to-night give their guests a taste of their best quality. In Baltimore they recently performed to the high gratification of immense houses; and later, at Alexandria, they met with most decided success. We expect that they will win golden opinions of the people of Washington also, as well as other sorts of golden things.

NEW Hose CARRIAGE. -This morning, the members of the Perseverance Fire Company received their new hose carriage, which they have been expecting for several days past. It is very light, though strongly constructed. It with a thirty horse power engine and boilers com is from the establishment of J. Young & Son, plete, built last spring by Wm. M Ellis & Brother. Philadelphia, and will probably be a favorite with all the utensils pertaining to the same, such with the hose division of that company.

LANDLORD AND TENANT CASE .- This morning, the case of John F. Callan vs. P. Butler was tried before a jury at the office of Justice Clark. It was a claim for taxes. Defendant rented a house from plaintiff at six dollars per month. The jurors decided that the tenant was not liable to pay taxes, unless it was shown that a contract to that effect had been made. Counsel for plaintiff, John L. Smith, Esq., for defendant, & R. Giberson, Esq.

A NEW FOUNDERY FOR STATUARY. - Mr. Clark Mills is about building a new foundery of brick, in place of the wooden one blown down some time since, near Bladensburg. It stance, much can be done in this particular is intended for casting the parts of the equestrian statue of Washington, the making of which statue was entrusted to Mr. Mills by Congress. Looking to the absorbing attention gued on Saturday last in the Circuit Court, a really great statue of the Father of his Coungiven by the distinguished artist to the subject, try may be expected from
